self-guided walking tour

Your journey begins here.

North Campus self-guided walking tour

You will begin your self-guided walking tour in the ground-floor lobby of Capen Hall (1) outside the Office of Admissions (Capen 12).

Capen Hall houses the offices of admissions, financial aid, and career planning and placement, as well as the Undergraduate Library. On your right, you will see the Capen Café, one of several spots where you'll be able to get a quick bite to eat on your tour. Walk straight down the hallway past the Capen Café, following the sign for Bert's. As you do, you'll pass the Undergraduate Library (UGL) on your left—it's one of the 10 libraries that make up the UB library system.

At the end of the hall, just past the library, take a right. You are now in Talbert Hall (2).

As you continue, you'll approach Bert's, one of UB's most popular eateries. Talbert also houses the Honors Program and study abroad office. At the end of the hallway, you'll pass through double doors.

At the spiral staircase, walk up one flight. At the top of the stairs, the Natural Sciences Center (3) will be on your right and Talbert will be on your left. Turn right into the Natural Sciences Center.

The Natural Sciences Center houses lecture halls and the chemistry and geology departments. The building is also the location of more than 125 labs. After entering the center, you will pass large lecture halls on your right and smaller classrooms on your left. Take a look inside these rooms—you'll get a sense of the variety of classroom environments at UB. Return to the hallway and proceed until you see two hallways on either side of you. The hallway on your right, just before the restrooms, leads to Hochstetter Hall (biology) and Cooke Hall (pharmacy). The hallway on your right leads to Fronczak Hall (astronomy, economics, and physics).

Retrace your steps past Bert's to the Capen Lobby and proceed right; the UB logo will be on the wall to your right. Follow the sign to Norton Hall (4).

Continuing through Norton, you'll see the Center for Computational Research (CCR) on your left. The CCR is one of the nation's top ten academic supercomputing sites. You will also see NYSCEDII, the New York State Center for Engineering and Industrial Innovation.

Continue down the hall until you reach Knox Hall (5).

Take a look in the lecture halls in Knox—many of your larger core classes will be located here. Continue through Knox, past the vending machines, into the enclosed walkway and take a look out the windows to your left. You'll see Bell Hall (home to computer science, electrical, and industrial engineering). On the wall to your right are bulletin boards for student clubs and activities.

At the end of the walkway, head left toward the Student Union (6). Continue to follow the signs for the Student Union, passing room 150 on the left, until you reach the union lobby.

The Student Union is where students experience much of UB's social life, whether meeting friends at Putnam's or attending a cultural event. This building is also home to the Student Unions and Activities office, which sponsors student events, programs, and activities. The second and third floors are home to a number of student service and activities offices.

Head outdoors via the front doors of the Student Union. Directly across the road in front of you is the entrance to the Commons (7).

As you enter the Commons, you'll see Starbucks on your left. Continue through the lobby and exit the doors facing the Commons courtyard. The water fountain and clock tower in front of you are popular gathering spots during warmer months. All around you, you'll see the various shops, restaurants, and student services that make the Commons the place to be.

Now, retrace your steps to the Commons entrance. As you exit, head outdoors and veer left up the hill along Putnam Way (8).

On your right, just past the union, you'll see Lockwood Library, which houses UB's humanities and social sciences research collections. Just past Lockwood, you'll see two buildings set back from the road: Baldy Hall (education and philosophy) and O'Brian Hall (law). Baldy is also the location of the Learning Center, where you can go for help with writing and math and receive guidance from fellow students.

As you continue up the hill, you'll see the Jacobs Management Center (business administration), and Park Hall (social sciences) on your right. To your left is Clemens Hall (English, modern languages), named for Samuel Clemens (better known as Mark Twain), who once worked and lived in Buffalo. Clemens houses many of UB's smaller classrooms.

After you pass Lockwood and Clemens, make a left. You will pass Baird Hall (music) on your left. Directly behind Baird is Slee Hall (9), where many of the music department's concerts are held.

Take a look across the lake — you'll see the Ellicott Residence Complex, where a majority of our undergraduate students reside. As you pass Slee, you'll see the Center for the Arts (art, media study) on your left. One of UB's newest facilities, the center also hosts concerts, performances, exhibits, and UB's Distinguished Speakers Series.

Alumni Arena (10) is directly in front of you. This complex is where many of UB's indoor athletic events take place. It also offers an Olympic-size pool and a wide range of athletic opportunities that are FREE for all students. Located behind Alumni is UB Stadium, which was recently renovated to meet Division I-A standards and now seats more than 30,000 people.

Congratulations! You have completed your tour. We sincerely hope you enjoyed your journey. If you have any questions about UB or would like to make a reservation for one of our scheduled Visit UB programs, call us toll-free at 1-888-UB-ADMIT.
